Operational

✓ WFP has approved a $1.37 million advance to contribute to the floods emergency in Bolivia;
✓ Jointly with the Viceministry of Civil Defence, WFP has finished programming the first food distribution and has coordinated with the Red Cross and Caritas, which will distribute food as well;
✓ Between the end of April and the beginning of May, WFP has planned to provide food assistance to 15,000 families—75,000 people—in 609 communities in four in the departments of Beni, Pando, La Paz and Cochabamba;
✓ In Cochabamba a field mission could assess the gravity of the damages, which are concentrated mostly along rivers’ shores. Rivers’ overflow have caused the destruction of crops and houses.
✓ To face this situation lots of families have been forced to abandon their lands to look for jobs in urban areas;
✓ These families are at risk of food insecurity and might not be able to work to rehabilitate their lands;
✓ In Pando a field mission to the municipalities of San Lorenzo, Gonzalo Moreno and San Pedro could assessed the gravity of the damages caused by river Beni overflow, which brought about the loss of crops such as maize, cassava, rice, beans, bananas, as well as the death of small cattle;
✓ With water levels going down, indigenous families and farmers in the area of Riberalta are going back to their communities to work for the rehabilitation of their lands. These people though, do not have any seeds or agricultural inputs to be able to sow their lands;
✓ In Beni the situation in the municipality of Guayaramerin is still very critical because of water covering various neighbourhoods;
✓ The conditions in the rural communities are even worse. The only source of food for people living there, is the one provided by the municipality, the Beni government and WFP (high energy biscuits).

Logistics

✓ WFP food stock infrastructures have been set up in Trinidad, Riberalta, y Guayaramerin;
✓ The Logistics Working Group, led by the Vice Ministry of Civil Defence and co-led by WFP, has been officially launched. It aims at setting up a structure which centralizes logistics skills and knowledge, to reach better coordination and efficiency;
✓ The Logistics Working Group is currently supported by WFP staff in Trinidad and La Paz and soon in Riberalta y Rurrenabaque;
✓ Upon request by the Naval Force in Trinidad, WFP undertook the analysis of fluvial transport for cargos, commercial tariffs and operational costs in Naval Force ships, both along northern and southern routes.
